Thirty-fourth Annual Report

—OF THE—

TRUSTEES OF THE PEABODY INSTITUTE.

In presenting their report to the town, the Trustees can state that their improvements in the Hall, which were contemplated in their last report, are to-day an accomplished fact. The entire floor has been relaid, and made to slope upwards from a point one-third distant from the stage, at an incline of about one-sixteenth of an inch to the feet. The great feature of the change is the re-seating of the entire Hall, including the gallery, with an improved style of seat, of the latest pattern. We have now one of the best equipped Halls in Peabody, or in our district, containing 753 seats. It is conveniently connected by horse cars with a large travel of well settled territory.

The stairs and aisles are carpeted, which allows of an audience retiring, or leaving, with little noise, besides other advantages.

The acoustic properties of the Hall are good, and we would commend it as available for many entertainments, which improve and elevate the social standard of any community, and come within the objects which Mr. Peabody designed that this foundation should foster.

We invite the citizens of our own and neighboring towns to patronize it when possible.

The work of improvement has been accomplished within the amount appropriated, and the committee who had the matter in charge have met frequently and given much of their time and thought to secure the best results within the $2700 appropriated.

The committee examined and compared several samples of seats, and after selecting that which they thought best, secured some minor improvements to be made in it.

The committee consisted of Messrs. George F. Osgood, George J. Winchester and George H. Poor, who deserves the thanks of the Trustees and the citizens for their good work.

Two other prominent improvements will probably be realized during the coming year, which will be of much value to the administration of the library work. A case for the card catalogue of the library, which will both assist in the delivery of books, and further systematize and simplify the work of selecting books. Shelving must also keep pace with the books added.

As our town increases in population, and more people come from greater distances to secure this reading matter, every aid to the quicker handling of the books that can be reasonably afforded is essential.

Mr. Peabody provided that the foundation which he established among us must be located within a given distance of a point near the Square, consequently many of our patrons coming from the greater distances would desire to economize their time as much as possible, and the card catalogue case will aid in so doing.

At their last meeting the Trustees accepted the proposition contained in the following note, the Heirs of Mr. Peabody having expressed a desire that our Board should be the custodian of this endowment fund, which they were willing to make to the amount of one thousand dollars:—

GERMANTOWN, PENN., JANUARY 14, 1887.

To the President and Board of Trustees of the Peabody Institute, Peabody, Mass.—

GENTLEMEN: It has been intimated to the heirs of the late George Peabody, of London, deceased, that for the purpose of preserving and caring for the lot where his remains are buried, in Harmony Grove Cemetery, adjacent to you, your Board would be willing to accept the sum of one thousand ($1000) dollars, in perpetuity, and apply the income thereof from time to time to that purpose, as might be necessary. If such intimation be correct, the heirs of Mr. Peabody have decided to place the above amount in your hands for that purpose, under the following limitations, if acceptable to you:—

First. That you will hold the above amount as a separate fund, the income to be devoted exclusively to the preservation and general care of the said lot, so that it may at all times be in an orderly, neat and proper condition.

Second: That in making this provision for the general care and preservation of the monument, the lot and the walls surrounding it, and in placing the lot to that extent under your control and supervision, this act shall in no degree lessen or abate the ultimate and absolute right of the heirs or representatives of Mr. Peabody to make such alterations, improvements, repairs or additional burials or removals in or from said lot, at their own expense, as they may from time to time deem necessary or advisable, as freely and to the same extent as if this endowment or trust had not been made.

Hoping that the views expressed herein may prove to be in conformity with your own, and acceptable to you, I remain,

Very truly yours,

R. S. PEABODY,

For the Heirs of the late George Peabody.

The Librarian reports that, while our circulation is represented by the figures 2 77, the average of the other places examined is lower.

The Librarian asks that copies of the School Books used in our Schools at present, and in the future, be deposited in the Library by the School Committee. In view of the close relations which exist between schools and an educational institution like this Library, it is hoped that the request will be complied with.

The increased use of the Reading Room, as reported by the Lyceum and Library Committee, is most gratifying. A quiet place to read and consult books, in connection with such a Library as we can boast of having among us, cannot be too much lauded and advertised among those who could, but do not, make use of it.

The Trustees duly met, at the commencement of this official year, and chose officers as given on a previous page.

There was appropriated to the use of the Lyceum and Library Committee $3,700 for the current year, now soon coming to a close.

On February 7th, 1887, the Trustees met, when the reports of the Treasurer and the Lyceum and Library Committee were received and accepted, as were also the reports of its sub-committees.

The work of the Lyceum and Library Committee requires time and thought, and the fact of having a love for such work, and the honorable position connected with it, are the rewards incidental to its performance. The Chairmen have considerable responsibility added, but to one and all who have faithfully attended to this work, the Trustees and the Town owe their thanks and appreciation.

As exponents of the work accomplished during the year, you are referred to the various reports printed herewith.

The new list of books herewith offered by the Librarian must prove of value, and is additional proof that his efforts are in a good direction.

The Treasurer's Report explains the expenses and financial condition of the Institute.

Respectfully submitted,

In behalf of the Trustees,

FRANCIS H. APPLETON.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY AND LYCEUM COMMITTEE.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE PEABODY INSTITUTE:—

The Lyceum and Library Committee for the year 1886-7 present to the Trustees "a full report of all their doings" in the accompanying reports of the Librarian, the Sub-Committees and the Treasurer.

They are pleased to call your attention to the increased patronage of the Reading Room and to the co-operation of the teachers of the Public Schools with the Librarian in furtherance of the plan of directing the young people what to read. For with Fiction and Juveniles constituting 75 per cent. of the circulation, not only must great care be exercised in the selection of books of this class to be placed upon the shelves, but the young man be induced and encouraged to turn their attention to the other classes of reading which the Library offers directly connected with the courses of study which they are pursuing in the school.

It has been the aim of the Lyceum Committee to present a course of Lectures which would give instruction to the audience, and not merely afford an evening's entertainment.

They believe that the lectures of the past season have been reasonably successful in meeting the purpose of the Committee.

The list of titles of additions to the Susan Reference Library is proof that many valuable books of Reference have been added in this department.

The report of the Librarian of the Peabody Library calls to your notice the pressing need of more shelf room and a complete card catalogue. To it is appended a list of the more important additions to the Library during the past year, and also a list of the Magazines, Reviews and Papers which are accessible in the Reading Room.

The report of the Treasurer in detail will show that the expenditures of the Library and Lyceum Committee have been made in accordance with the regulations established by the Trustees.

Respectfully submitted

for the L. and L. Committee,

G. F. OSGOOD, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE,

TO THE LYCEUM AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE:—

According to custom, the annual report of the Library Committee is herewith submitted.

During the past year six books have been added to the Library. A fair idea of their scope and character may be obtained from the accompanying report of the Librarian. The Committee in their choice of books have conscientiously endeavored to regard the varying tastes and wants of the reading public.

The Committee have been unable to supply the card catalogue case, and the additional shelf room to which attention was called in the report of last year. The lack of these accommodations causes much inconvenience, and it is desirable that suitable provision be made at an early day.

The Reading room, slow as now to attract the patronage deserved and hoped for, is fulfilling the most ardent hopes of its friends, and rewarding the efforts of those who labored so faithfully and persistently for its establishment. The people of the Library will doubtless make rich returns for the membership of this distinguished boudoir of the Institute.

The Librarian is earnestly devoted to his work, enthusiastic in the discharge of his duties, and fortunate in having assistants who seriously cooperate with him in his efforts to please the patrons of the Library.

The committee take with pleasure that the teachers of the Public Schools have availed themselves of the invitation extended to make use of the special facilities of the Library, as an aid in directing their pupils in the paths of learning. They would respectfully suggest that the School Committee consider the advisability of having placed in the Library one copy of each kind of text book now or hereafter used in our schools. Such a collection would prove interesting and valuable to those who shall succeed us.

Respectfully submitted,

by the Peabody Library Committee.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

TO THE FACULTY AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE—

* The report of the Librarian for the year ending February 1, 1882, is respectfully submitted.

The printed catalogue for the year-endment, the list of books prepared by the Heliograph, and the list prepared by the Cyclops, containing an index to the Peabody Library from its commencement to date.

These four books are filed in iron cases written at different dates, and these cases are confined partly to boxes in the large hall, and partly in the drawers of the Librarian's desk.

The catalogue cards afford the only complete catalogue arranged under authors, titles, subjects, and cross references to date, but are of little use unless convenient for consultation, so long as they are in three or four different places. These cards should be sorted, those of the worn out books discarded, and all placed in drawers made for the purpose, and these drawers placed in appropriate cases.

Disposal of the due of the hall shows cases which this Library will rearrange in 1872.

It is unnecessary for me to mention the want of more shelf room, as the Committee are aware of the fact.

The Young folks' book list, prepared last year, has been reported to have been of service in the schools; and it is thought that it can be continued.

In connection with this list, it may be proper to state that it may be advisable to regulate the delivery of books for school purposes in the manner adopted by the towns and cities which have paid special attention to this matter.

In the Fifty-ninth Report, p. 26, is a carefully prepared table of the circulation in 16 towns and cities. As it is not necessary to reprint that statement, the reference is given.

In Lynn the circulation this year (reported in a late Sunday Globe) was 109,762, with a population in 1885 of 45,861. Our population in 1885 was 9,539, and for our circulation to equal that of the Lynn Library, we should have 22,871 instead of 26,450.

In the Reports of the Libraries for 1884 or 1885, taking the latest received (although they were printed in the following year), of the cities and towns of Taunton, Watertown, Danvers, Brookline, Natick, Fall River, Lawrence and Worcester, it seems that the number of the books delivered in one year is 223-100 volumes for each inhabitant, and in Peabody is 277-100 volumes for each inhabitant. This calculation is founded on the State census of 1885.

Gifts of bound books have been received during the past year as follows:

Hon. E. F. Stone, 17 vols. U. S. Public Documents; Smithsonian Institution, 2 vols.; State of Massachusetts, 3 vols.; F. H. Appleton, 9 vols.; Hon. C. D. Wrigley, Hon. R. C. Winthrop, Pratt Manufacturing Co., Baker & Co., 1 volume each.

The gift of the President of the Trustees of 4 volumes of the Boston Athenaeum Catalogue is a much desired addition to our reference books.

My thanks are tendered to the Trustees, Committee, and all who have in any way aided in assisting me to carry out the beneficent designs of the founder of this important institution.
